TroyMUN'26

FCC

The Galactic Senate

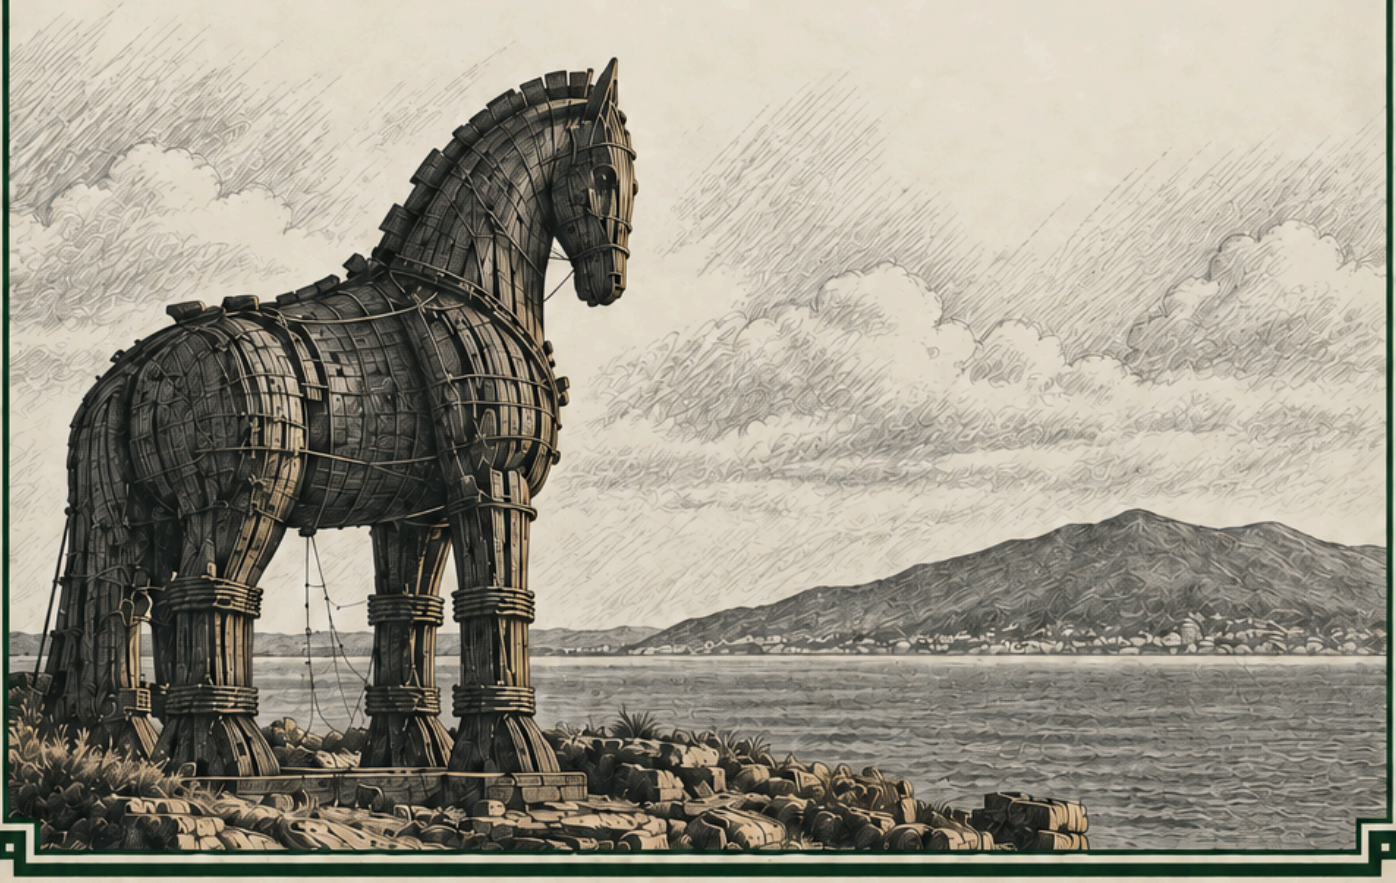

Table of Contents:

1) Letter from the Secretary General
2) Letter from the Under Secretary General
3) Committee Guide
4) Grand Alignment (2300-2305)
5) Establishment of the Galactic Senate (2310)
6) Acillian Colonialism (2320-2670)
7) Failed Trajan Revolt (2670-3120)
    a) A Galactic Drama (2670-2820)
    b) Tarro War (2820-2869)
    c) Betrayal From the Bees (2869-2923)
    d) Prince Cemalot
    e) Protect Jul By Any Means
    f) A War Crime
    g) Funeral of Prince Cemalot (2926)
8) Kendrihen Cult
9) Space Pirates
10) Pitohui (5120-5400)

a) The Battle of Palas (5200)

b) Lots of Guns

c) The End of Titans (5210)

11) Intergalactic Robot Laws

12) Current Technology

13) Decreasing Economy of the Galaxy (6000)

a) Intergalactic Open Market

b) Loans and Banks

14) The Far Beyond

a) The Lost Spaceship (6024)

15) Cursed Religion (6030-6040)

16) Immigration of Grey Workers

17) The Destruction of IOM (6045)

18) Ascension of Qaidron (6046-6050)

19) Preperation for Doom

20) The Breakdown (6055)

21) Generational Pop Out (6060)

22) The Day of Destiny (6061-6067)

23) Baton of the Seer

24) Happy Nation (6100)

25) A New Order (6102)

a) Factions

b) What Will Happen Now

Letter from the Secretary-General

Esteemed Prospective Participants,

On behalf of TROYMUN Family, I would like to welcome you all to the ninth edition of TROY Model United Nations Conference. My name is Baran Akarsu and it is an utmost honor and privilege to serve as the Secretary-General of TROYMUN 2026. The ninth edition of TROYMUN will be held with the collaboration of Parion Hotel and Çanakkale College once again and it will take place in Çanakkale. While the junior edition of TROYMUN will take place between 23th-25th of November, the senior edition will be held between 27th and 29th of November. Since our last edition We are extremely delighted and excited to meet once again and discuss some of the world's current problems. This year, we will host five committees in each of our editions. The committees will be a bit more interesting, more related to our current life and new rather than our past editions. The topic of Ensuring Habitat Protection and Biodiversity Conservation will be discussed in United Nations Environmental Programme for our Junior Edition. Reminding that it will be the first time of hosting UNCoST, The discussion is going to be covered under Raising Awareness on Usage of AI and Combatting the Misuse of Artificial Intelligence for our Junior Edition.

UNICEF with the topic of The Effects of Social Media Usage and Digital Bullying on Children's Mental Health: International Maritime Organization with the issue of Protecting Oceans from Plastic Pollution and Maritime Waste for our Junior Edition. Not to forget our last and another new gen committee for Junior Edition, include an exciting wait for you to shine as a star. FCC: The Galactic Senate In the Futuristic Crisis Committee, delegates will prepare for the upcoming galactic elections with their factions. There will be four factions competing in the elections.

Besides the elections, delegates will also cooperate with each other to solve the problems of the galaxy. Meanwhile for our Senior Edition,
United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime will discuss Combating the Rise of Cyber-Enabled Transnational Organized Crime and Darknet Marketplaces. UNWomen with the topic of Council of Europe Convention on Preventing and Combating Violence against Women and Domestic Violence (Istanbul Convention). Senior Edition Of UNICEF's Agenda Item will be Ensuring the Protection of Children's Rights in Armed Conflicts: The Case of Gaza. As you knew from our last edition, We gathered together in a committee to dream about the America. We know it is in your dreams before your sleeps, American Dreams! An exciting rehandling of Historical U.S Senate comes with a new discussion; The Civil Rights. Our last and fifth for our Senior Edition will be a Crisis Committee. JCC will be with us in order to discuss The Napoleonic Era.

We are looking forward to see you as a star, a delegate, a diplomat in our ninth edition which is special and the last before the double digits. Delighted to hear your solutions on these crucial topics and wish you fruitful debates. A group of experienced MUN delegates as well as successful and exemplary individuals well versed in the topics at hand will chair and monitor our committees. I have full faith in each and every member of our Academic Team and I believe they will guide you towards enhancing your academic knowledge along with practicing your debating and negotiating skills through presenting the best environment for a spirit of diplomacy

Meanwhile, now that they can arrange physical challenges, coffee breaks and social events again, I believe our amazing and all-mighty Organization Team members are in a frenzy! They are working with great dedication to ensure that you leave TROYMUN 2026 with unforgettable memories and lots of new friends. Overall, we are all looking forward to meet you again!

On behalf of TROYMUN family and Parion Hotel, I would like to thank you for your time and consideration and once again, with great pleasure, welcome you to TROYMUN 2026. Do not forget to apply, to read your study guides, prepare some speeches and motions, and buckle your seatbelts for three days of fun, discussion, games and politics! In case of any questions, do not hesitate to contact us. We would be more than happy to help you. See you in November

Your Sincerely,
Baran Akarsu

Secretary-General of TroyMUN

Letter from the Under Secretary-General

Fellow Delegates,

Welcome to our committee, FCC. This is the most entertaining committee that you can find in this conference because it will take you to the future and will give you a taste of what it feels like to be a diplomat in the future. I remember at my first conference my age was the same as yours; I still remember how excited I felt while I was reading my opening speech, but years have passed, and now I am the USG of your committee. The topic of this year is the same as last year: “The Galactic Senate," but we made some changes to the procedure and story. We used last year's reports to write this study guide, so you will be reading something done by real people. And I would like to express my thanks to our secretary general, Baran Akarsu; my mentors Poyraz Karaman and Nuri Öztunç; and dear crisis team members.

You have to read this carefully to take notes and write your speeches because the story that this study guide contains doesn’t exist anywhere else in the world, but don’t overthink and get stressed while trying to write a speech and always try to have fun. And always remember, delegates: in FCC, the future is yours to shape.

Poyraz Perit Dilber

dilberpoyrazperit@gmail.com

What is an FCC, and how does it work?

A Futuristic Crisis Committee usually comprises one group of delegates/representatives in the same room, debating the similar, perpetual crises.

Typically this group could seek common ground. As a rule, there are no boundaries to a committee's course of action, besides being reasonable.

The crisis is presented to the delegates, who can react to it in the form of directives. These directives influence the outplay of the scenario. Directives will be further explained in the rules of procedure, but here is an example:

"Public Directive: Acillian Blockade of Cemalot

The Acillian Empire hereby decides that the 3rd spaceship strike group shall blockade any shipping bound for Cemalot by all means necessary.

- Acillian Secretary of Defence"

If this directive is submitted, the crisis will change accordingly. For example, an armed conflict may be sparked by these decisions/actions, and then the crisis develops.

Crisis Updates: Throughout a crisis session there will be multiple spontaneous crisis updates given by the crisis team. These include the latest developments of the crisis at hand, as well as the results and repercussions of submitted directives.

As an example:

"Crisis Update No. X, October 30th, 2857

The reconnaissance platoon (sent out in the previous directive) has spotted a rebellious spaceship near Tarro.

Public opinion of The Emperor is at an all-time low due to inaction in the face of the crisis…"

Events:

The scenario's outplay is also affected by random events, such as natural disasters, leaks, other countries' actions, and so on…

Intelligence:

Having more knowledge is key in facing the crisis. Directives can involve intelligence actions, e.g. spy operations and reconnaissance missions, but are at risk of detection.

Procedure of debate: The debate in this FCC will be held in the following three ways only:

1. Moderated Caucus: Moderated caucuses in FCC will function identically to those found in conventional Model UN committees: they will serve as debating grounds for delegates according to the Galactic Senate. More about that in the workshop.

2. Semi-Moderated Caucus: Semi-moderated caucuses in FCC will function identically to those found in conventional Model UN committees: they will serve as debate periods when the delegates cannot physically move across the committee room but rise to talk without interrupting other delegates.

3. Unmoderated Caucus: Unmoderated caucuses in FCC will function identically to those found in conventional Model UN committees: they will serve as informal periods of debate where delegates can physically move across the committee room to approach fellow delegates in colloquial conversation.

4. Freeze Time: These directive breaks are short recesses in which the crisis team will be given the opportunity to confer and process directives. While directives are being processed by the staff, delegates are encouraged to engage in colloquial debate without leaving their respective seats in the committee room.

Opening Speech and General Speech

This FCC committee includes both opening and general speeches. After the workshop the committee will begin with delegates' opening speeches. These speeches will last one minute. After this the floor will be open for the general speakers list. General speeches will last one and a half minutes.

Motions

Motions can be given for two reasons: Debating on a specific topic or introducing a committee directive before voting. Delegates can only raise motions when asked by the chairboard.

Directives This FCC involves five types of directives, and these directives can be split into two groups:

1. Private Directives:

A private directive can be issued by any delegate and involves actions that are to be taken by assets or institutions under his jurisdiction. E.g., a senator may issue a private directive to do a press release or create a new technology, but he cannot issue a private directive commanding a planet, as those are not under their jurisdiction. The outcome of a private directive will be decided by the crisis team, and the submitter will be given notice individually.

A. A Press Release is a private directive. Its purpose is controlling public opinion in the galaxy. These directives will be read to the rest of the committee.

B. A Blueprint Directive is a private directive. Its purpose is to invent

2. Public Directives: new technologies and tools.

C. A Top Secret Directive is a private directive. Its purpose is submitting actions without the supervision of the chairboard. These directives are directly given to an admin. The chairboard can and will read these directives if found.

A public directive can be issued by any delegate and should involve actions that are in the interest of the faction the delegate is representing. When a public directive has to be submitted, it has to be notified to their faction leader. After the approval from the faction leader, the delegate should submit the directive to the chairboard. The outcome of a public directive will be decided by the crisis team, and the entire committee will be given notice through the next crisis update. The submitter will be given notice individually if requested in the directive.

A. A Committee Directive is a public directive. These directives are for resolving galaxy-level crises. Before submitting the committee directive, the issue of these directives' resolution needs to be spoken in the form of a general speech or in a motion debate. To submit these directives, the delegate needs to give out a motion for the voting of the directive.

Where to go now?

While the study guide provides much of the knowledge you need to move forward in the committee, we strongly advise you to conduct further research on your roles and delve deeper into the historical contexts in order to fully participate in your committee. It will be worthwhile, we assure you—obviously, to dominate the opposing side!

We will brief you on the process and the subject during the workshop that kicks off the conference. Keep in mind that having prior knowledge will set you apart from other delegates.

.

Grand Alignment (2300-2305)

In the distant past, when civilisations of the newborn galaxy began to form, everything changed under one significant event: the Grand Alignment. An unremarkable occurrence it was; the galaxy in which they live got their planets in a perfect line. Like falling dominoes, they triggered each other, letting it be known there are multiple fiends, foes, or maybe even… friends? Thus began the Galactic Era!

Establishment of the Galactic Senate (2310)

As the civilisations met, they issued a proposal. A Senate where every civilisation, rich to poor and developed to newborn, was granted a chair and the right of speech. They sought to bring order to the chaos of the galaxy and to protect those who could not protect themselves. The planets had power and wisdom unparalleled; they all participated in the creation of the senate.

The building of the Galactic Senate is hidden from all forces and still yet to be found. It is said that it floats in the depths of our galaxy and is protected, but by whom? Yet it is so advanced that it improves itself with every technological development so that it can serve as a means of uniting civilisations with each other. Senators communicate with holograms away from danger.

Acillian Colonialism

Mutualist cooperation led to the demise of the minorities of the galaxy. With growing trade and good economic choices, the Acillians became a supergalactic power. They controlled most of the trade in the galaxy. With great power, they've unlocked the secret of colonialism. They jumped from planet to planet, either conquered or civilised from the start, growing their empire. As the borders of the empire stretched, it began to corrupt. The governors didn't follow the rules that came from their headquarters. They began to rule planets as if they were their own. The struggling empire was not able to stop these separations, so they requested aid from the Galactic Senate. Only a few recognised this wish; help was even fewer. They had been deceived by the senate's lies for help. As the central government began to crumble, revolts from minor nations stormed the empire. Every minority has erupted into a new nation, claiming back their own planet. When all was about to be lost, the suns of Enacil sacrificed their starlight for the empire's salvation.

Failed Trajan Revolt

The start of a hope: the hopes of weak civilians sparked. The first flame….

A Galactic Drama

Steels forged and ages past, legends fall and the new generations arise. Another new dawn for our lovely, peaceful Starnight Kingdom it was. Or was it? The devil's hands were laid on planets; they were a paradise and a fortune for people, people who held the power. Their little pesky citizens? Well, they were just the atoms and quarks that form tiny pawns on the board. Ate propaganda for breakfast and lunch. Minorities were being used for hard labour and hardly paid; they were one spark away from turning into a wildfire.

Tarro War

It was a great conflict that left deep marks on galactic history. The war started with a hope of independence... For a long time, the Acillians had been carrying out colonisation activities in the newly found galaxy, bringing many planets under their dystopic order and expanding their influence further to new colonies. Through their unknown technology with reverse engineering and with their powerful agent network, they quickly rose to become a major power.

However, resistance began to rise in some of the planets colonised by the Acillians. The native populations, suffering from heavy taxation, cultural oppression, and resource exploitation, united to launch a rebellion against them. This uprising, which began in 2822, was initially seen as a serious threat, since most of the colonies were in strategic locations and disrupted the Acillians' trade routes.

Nevertheless, the Acillians managed to suppress the rebellion thanks to their technological superiority and the strength of their central governance. While the war continued, the Acillians' spies countered rebel spies by learning their main headquarters and capturing their leader afterwards. This event completely shifted the course of the war.

By the end of the war, the Acillians had established a harsher system of administration in the colonies under their control. Strong garrisons were stationed to prevent further uprisings, the economic order was reshaped, and centralised authority achieved absolute dominance. Yet this situation sparked one of the greatest debates in Acillians' history: did victory truly bring peace or did the new politics of Acillians start a new era of oppression?

Prince Cemalot

Prince Cemalot is the biological father of Nouri and Jul, who honoured them by naming planets by their names. He was the great king Cemalot the 4th when he was 154 years old; that was the time when the great war happened. He and his great army fought for the freedom of people in this war. They were fighting against the stronger army of Acillians. Prince Cemalot accepted to go on a war to help native people to get their planet back from the Acillians. They believed in themselves and they were winning until the moment that one ally of theirs had betrayed them. After that moment the war never continued like it did in the past. Uprisings in the galaxy were slowly fading away.

Betrayal From The Bees

Arrata was a planet which was colonised by the Accilians. Their army wasn't that good because of the limits that Acillians have set but they did hear Prince Cemalot's war call and they trusted him because his planet was the only planet which could protect and defend them. So they agreed to go on a war along with them.

Their people have had the heart to do this but their executives had different plans. The Acillians knew this so they offered the executives to betray their own people and ally rebels. For this they guaranteed their freedom after the war and Arratan executives accepted this. Immediately after they changed sides, they betrayed the Prince and the other planets' people. As a result, rebels lost the war and the Prince died but his children weren't satisfied and they wanted revenge…

Protect Jul by Any Means

The worst possible thing that could happen did happen: the Acillians attacked Jul to weaken Prince Camelot. They were coming with a weapon which can be used once in 100 years and there was only one option to stop it: using another object to block it off and the closest object was Prince's squad's spaceship. It could have ended worse, but the bravehearted prince offered his forces to block off the rays from the planet destroyer, and then the soldier called Dextrose the Braveheart said, "Your Highness, did I hear right? Are you certain, Highness? The Prince replied, "It's too late now; there is no time to think about the other options. We have to do it; we have to block it with ourselves. Our children's future is on the planet of Jul. We have to do this; we have to protect Jul by any means. Now I'm saying my last words as a dead man. Even if we fall, stars will guide the future. Even though we die, we could brighten the future." Then he ordered his squadron's captain to block the rays off.

A War Crime

After the death of the squadron and the prince, their dead bodies started floating around the space. A fleet from the Arrata, which was near the battlegrounds, realised their bodies, and they picked them up just in case. After the theft of the prince's body, the Noran people demanded their king be turned back into his planet. But Arrata's exclusives didn't want to give the body without compensation so they offered to surrender to Nor and Jul. While they were thinking about what they should do, they received an e-letter with a video from Prince Cemalot. The video was recorded just 15 minutes before the crash; there was only Prince on the camera with a paper in his hand. He recorded the video to change the course of war. When the video started, he started to read his last speech. He said, “Though we die, sudden death,

The future's bright once again.

What we did had to be done.

Blocked the rays, chests tight,

Until again, kill me; thus, death.

Bury soldiers deeper, tight,

'Till my heart beats no more,

Mercy, my comrades, bury me more.

Tight as dark,

Sharp as light,

I see the future.

So bury me more.”

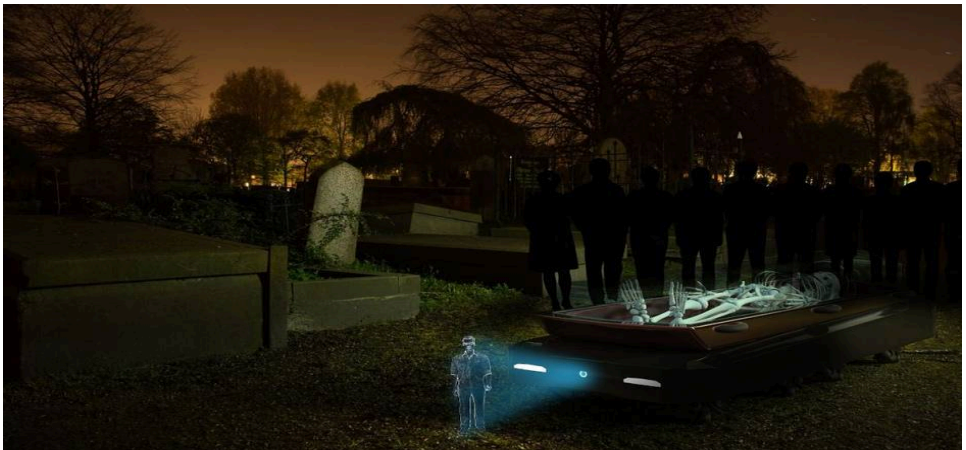

I know where my dead body is now with my Catarant senses; it’s in a box, in a cold place but it doesn’t matter now. You have to destroy Arrata by any means, and you can do it with a better version of the weapon they use. Jul and Nouri, I love you. We have to go now to protect our future."

After Nouri and Jul watched the video, they wanted to make their father's soul free, and Nouri started to work on their planet destroyer prototypes. 3 months later they finished their gun; it was the most powerful thing ever created. Unlike Acillans' weapon, they were ready to use it and they did. Just in a blink of an eye, Arrata buzzed out of existence.

Funeral of Prince Cemalot

Nor and Jul were crying after their fathers death but they were also happy because at that moment they knew that their father's soul was free. They wanted to organise a funeral for their father and the other 18 heroes; it was just a work of universal peace. There were more than 12 million creatures from around the universe; there were so many people from every part of the universe. They were just there because of their respect for the king. But suddenly something terrible happened. They saw some spaceships with skull drawings on them! Space pirates were why they were there, though. Did they just want to respect his soul? The answer is NO! They were just bribed by the Acillians to raid the funeral; the Acillians didn't even respect his soul. There was so much blood around but hopefully the forces around there managed to push the pirates back.

The Kendrihen Cult

The Kendrihen cult is a group whose duty was to protect the order in the galaxy; usher in a new era of peace, prosperity, and enlightenment for all. Alas, great power always begets corruption. One by one they will be crushed under the weight of their own strength. Once promised saviours, became twisted apostles of evil and brought forth darkness and devastation. They use a secret and antique technique called the 'catarant'. Which is an ancient technique that was used by the Catarara clans, which don't exist today. Catarant is a technique for which the training lasts 10 years; the wielder uses their mind to get a mind shield that can protect them and their surroundings. Their first major event is the Trajan Revolt; many believe that the Trajan Revolt was started by the Kendrihen Cult. Their new duty was to protect their own kind against the Acillian, and they fought well until. They started to brag about it and got pushed back to the planet of Jul. The cult and other planets fought against the Acillians bravely. After a long time, the Acillians' siege ended, and both sides made an agreement. After the Failed Trajan Revolt, the Kendrihen cult isolated themselves from the systems and got into a renovation process; although the process is unknown to many, no one tries to investigate the cult's plan nor their new leader…

Space Pirates

When all power in the galaxy was in the palms of the Senate; a long-desired opposition, an irrepressible organization, for once scattered but now together, commanded by a powerful captain, the Space Pirates! They have been known to mug and steal goods from all, travelling the galaxy, causing harm and destruction to others. The captain of this crew is being called by the name of Captain Milkbeard! He craves to reduce cultures to ashes purely for the thrill of it, all the while hardly valuing his own safety or that of his followers. He keeps his identity hidden by keeping no one alive after showing his face, killing them ruthlessly.

These hunters are known for destroying spaceships, pillaging cities, and looting treasures, but they have been seen collecting crap floating in space. And they do not use standardised spaceships but their own variegated models.

Sister and Brother Planets

Sister and brother planets, as most of the citizens know, Nor and Jul are 2 separate planets ruled by Prince Camelot's daughter and son; that is one of the reasons and the most known reason why they are called by those names. But the real reason is deeper: At the failed Trajan In the last years of the revolts, the Kendrihen cult and the other rebels joined their forces together at the planet Jul, where the princess Juliet, the daughter of Cemalot, let them stay there. When the Acillian intelligence learnt about this, they started their siege on Jul, and it lasted for 120 years. But at the end, the Jul countered their siege.

Nor and Jul

The prince of the planet Nor (Nouri) and the princess of Jul (Juliet) made a statue in honour of their dad, Cemalot. On the planet of Jul, they customised and focused on the technology for protecting their planet while they mastered the shields, and Nor started to arm himself in case of another revolt and to protect his sister. After they worked hard, Nor named a war machine called "THE STAR DESTROYER", and Jul named her protective shield "CEMALOT THE PROTECTOR" in order to honour their father.

Pitohui

Pieces, floating in space, desperate, in need of the touch of destiny. Eternity sounds… quiet indeed. After all, who can play God? Who can erase what had been built in seconds? What kind of unholiness is this? Is it desperation or an urge for destruction? War only brings deceit and pride in battlegrounds. Without war, battlegrounds are nothing. You are nothing. If you can do it, make it happen. Just like they did. We do not know who, but all they did was to give one order, and puff, gone. The whole planet… An entire civilisation… Well, they weren't the brightest of strategists. Arrata vanished into dust, and with it, its history. Who can blame Nor? They did what had to be done. Well, at least the war ended, right? Right?

Lots of Guns

Historians say it was a bitter war, a brutal war. Do not think that you are who you say you are because clearly you are not. Not in battle; a bloodbath, some may call it. Funny exercise some civilisations do when they are bored. By 'bored' I mean tragic, and by 'funny' I mean horrifying. All lives have a soul, you know that, right? Managing an entire planet is not easy. It is pretty easy to mess up. One mistake could be the end of billions of lives.

The war that ended a long time ago was actually not over. They were coming. Who is coming, you may ask? 'Let's just say they were some good old friends,' I may answer. Blowing up an entire planet is very terrifying; there is no one denying it. But when an entire empire of planets gets in a war with you. You cannot blow up all of them. The Acillians were ready for revenge. They had to destroy twin planets and their allies. Just after two thousand years, the Imperial Fleet was on the horizon. With a staggering 300 battleships, it looked like a masterpiece. A masterpiece with guns, LOTS OF GUNS.

The Battle of Palas

On the tiny moon named Palas was a fleet. Dancing with ice dust, just like some secret love. Like holding hands. A kiss on the forehead is all it needs. Just a tiny little kiss.

Going on another battle again. Old machines full of craving battle, again on the battlefield. The Noran Fleet facing the Imperial Fleet was ready to give that kiss it needed. The Noran flagship Juna fired its first laser, eliminating 20 ships instantly. The imperial fleet attacked while Juna recharged. Knowing Juna can’t fire repeatedly, the Imperial Fleet attacked. Sniping Juna from long range. In the middle of the war, the Junan Fleet arrived and shielded the rest of the Noran Fleet, at least what was left. The Imperial forces did a tactical retreat. In the end Palas was left as a graveyard for Noran battleships. With fewer ships, the Noran forces successfully defended their planet. Unlike the Imperial Fleet, the Noran Fleet was disciplined and had a single goal, whereas the Imperial Fleet was made up of numerous colonies with different cultures and goals. The remaining ships were escorted to Jun for repairs.

The End of Titans

War waged on and on. Both sides equally claimed the throne of victory. If only there were children on the battlefield. Mothers were loose, two mothers of Acillians: Sumaggi and Summani. The power within them is shared through the souls of Acillians via the Father: Acil. Acil was the moon of Enacil: the native planet for Acillians. Sadly the children were making more noise than parents imagined.

Nor the planet of revenge and attack. The Noran fleet was silent and close, awaiting the ideal opportunity to strike. Then the moment they had waited for had come. In every ten thousand years, mothers of Acillians would double their speed when dancing only to slow down again. But the Noran had different ideas. They had set up a Jul Protector opposite of Acil; using the shield as a mirror, they reflected the light which the father had taken from the mothers. It hit like a laser beam and gave back the energy the suns were radiating. With so much energy and perfect timing, the stars started to spin even faster. There was not enough time for Acillians to react. With a heartwarming voice, it ended all. Fade to white, then black. The Noran fleet was gone; Acillian home was gone. The tragedy, the drama – over. It was finally finished. The suffering was no more.

With the supernova of two stars, there was so much space dust and space junk. For some unknown reason something started happening. One spark turned into two, then three. Elements started forming, becoming one again. Although there was something different this time. Elements weren't mixing. They were becoming colonies of themselves. And suddenly there were eight new planets in the galaxy. Newborn but fast growers, they were already having civilisations, for they were the essentials. With new elements found, they become an interest for powerful nations. Then one particular community came and protected them. The galactic order, the Galactic Senate.

Intergalactic Robot Laws

When the first protests that the robots started at Ekhion, and after a whole year of fighting for the cause, the robots got what they wanted: they are now an official race, and now they can't work as slaves but as people because they won't get tired, and now they can arm themselves as well. The robots now have an official senator and can represent their ideas.

Current Technology

Transportation

The current transportation techniques are clearly more developed than 1000 years before today. After the past years there is no such thing called "face-to-face shopping". People buy all the stuff they need from websites like Zamazor and Alemba.

And they receive their shipments by shipping companies such as Gedecx or Storse.

Gedecx is a corporation from Kaloumonia.

They use spaceships to get to the place they want. The modern spaceships are travelling at a speed close to the speed of light, but despite that speed, they couldn’t get out of their galaxy because of the great void. Travelling to the nearest galaxy appears to be far beyond the capabilities of the current technology. The best spaceship brands are Gi-Mi and Tokasch, and Tokasch Kahin is the fastest spaceship around the galaxy.

Technological devices

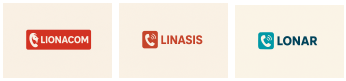

There are many technological device brands that are used in everyday life, like Pear and Juomsan; those are mobile chip brands, unlike 1000 years ago. People don't use mobile phones now; they have chips that are integrated into their heads and brains. And the best brands for these chips are Pear and Juomsan. And for the other technologies, like computers, hologram technologies, etc., they use Phert and Fenomo.

Telecommunication

There is only one planet that mastered itself in intergalactic telecommunication systems, and it is Lionar. The other planets have their own communication systems, but their systems are only making it able to communicate around their planet, unlike Lionar’s brands. Lionar’s brands, like Lionacom, Linasis and Lonar, guarantee you can talk from any part of our galaxy.

Weapons

There are a couple of planets that fund arms production, like Peew, Balaloga, and Dynamar. They either have their own brands for these technologies or support those created by their own people, such as Gunno Juon. Mr Juon was a major in the army of Dynamar, but one day his commanders realised that he was a master at weapon technologies, so he decided to create his own guns and established a gun company called “Juon’s Lasers”. Other brands like Peewe and BNAC are nationally funded companies.

Agricultural Technologies

In the year 5600, our galaxy has a couple of agricultural monopolies. They all have different kinds of aims towards agriculture. For example, Hoplaen aims for mass-produced and cheap farming equipment. Unlike Hoplaen, there is a company that aims to create products for specific individuals, Juon’s Machines. Unlike the companies that produce equipment, there is also a company that creates seeds and plants, and it’s called “Naturella”.

Energy Production

In everyday life people still need electricity to live, and there are many ways to create it in 5600. The governments of the planets use renewable or radioactive elements to get electricity.

Decreasing Economy of the Galaxy

After the “Second Depression” incident in Mukuron, a lot of investors had lost their documents; due to this, they had problems with their land registrations, so they lost money, and some of them had gone bankrupt. As a result of this, people lost their jobs, and this caused a depression. Now the galaxy’s economy is going down, so because of this, the companies on Floor Blvd are looking for new investors.

Intergalactic Open Market (IOM)

There is a stock market for inventors called IOM, which is in Mukuron. The IOM is a stock market which was established by the Galactic Senate to keep the economy of the galaxy stabilised after the “Second Depression”. The investors can buy stocks from that corporation.

Loans and Banks

There are also banks that delegates can ask for loans from and buy real estate-like properties from. There are two banks that delegates can use. Faze Bank and Mleeca Bank. They do have different offers for delegates.

The Far Beyond

When the time came to explore other systems in our galaxy, we didn't know. Upon the arrival of a possible threat that we feared, we thought about lots of options and elected to send a spaceship that contained the best of every race. We did this job to fully understand our surroundings and maybe take full control of them…

The Lost Spaceship

We thought it would be a simple duty but failed miserably. We thought it would be a memorable event that will be taught in schools. We are now living in fear. When will the gas and the resources we need end? We were sent on the date of 19/8/5525 but are now looking for a way out of this spaceship. The only accomplishment that can be seen as a benefit to this project is that we find .-. . -.. .- -.-. - . -.. on one of the planets……

–Captain FERUH

Cursed Religion

It was just an innocent idea at first. It would stay like that too if mankind didn't want it to be more. It only started in a mountain village of Zyantar. A man got told to go to the top of the longest mountain by his instincts. So he just did it and went to the top, but once he got there, he saw something that felt like he shouldn't see; there was a fly with the height of 2 elephants. After seeing this, the guy fainted; when he woke up, he saw a note that was written for him:

"Dear Wuthu, you are the chosen one; you are the only one who can save mankind. Now you are the prophet sent from our side; we will be with you against everything you are going to encounter. Just take my name everywhere you go.

-Mofu"

After that time Wuthu started travelling around the Zyantar and spreading the religion sent from the above. There were people who believed in him, but there were also people who didn't; he came across death so many times in that process, but he never gave up; he just continued to his case, and after a long struggle, he started to become successful. He became the president of his planet; he was the prophet who was sent from the god Mofu. After being the president, he changed the name of the planet to Mofu, but there was one thing: there was nothing innocent about this story; it was a lie. It would never end peacefully. In reality Wuthu Nipta was a genius with an IQ of 267 when he went to that mountain and wrote that story; he never did see a fly with the height of 2 elephants, or there were no notes coming from the above. There was only him and his greedy desire to rule the world. He was so young when he started his plan; it was just a couple of years before that moment, his whole family was murdered by the Accilian bandits, so he promised himself to take his revenge. From the world, normal people would just want the revenge from the bandits, but he wasn't normal; he was born as a villain, and he just needed to be triggered. He turned himself into a kind of mentalist. Mofu was the name of his little sister, which was taken from him in front of his eyes. After spreading mofu to his own planet, he didn't give up; he kept with the other planets, and he persuaded the president of the 3 planets, but like I said, they were just presidents, and they changed the official religion to Mofu, but the people of these planets didn't agree with officiality; they wanted their comfort back, so they started protests against the governments, and it turned into rebellions in some planets, so it just ended with the banning of the mofu from every planet one by one, including mofu. But there were also people who believed Wuthu and there would be more destruction coming from them. After all that, people died, houses burnt, and families fell apart, and there was only a man with the broken heart and unsuccessful actions, and he also passed from that world by being executed by the Mofu haters. The only thing left eternal from all of this was the name of the little girl, Mofu. After a couple of years, a boy playing at the top of the exact mountain that Wuthu started his plan on found an old book that wasn't written by Wuthu; there was only one sentence in the whole book: “I was never a god. I was only waiting for my brother. ”.

Immigration of Grey Workers

There are two kinds of people in the galaxy: the rulers and the ones getting ruled. But sometimes, sometimes something unexpected happens as a result of the cruelty of the rulers, and this event is one of the things that proves that…
It was started just like a normal year for the robots in the galaxy; they were working hard and living a normal life. They weren’t a threat to the other nations; they were just innocent workers. They had their own laws to live by; they earned them in the past with a couple of bloody events, but that doesn’t matter. They learned to live with other people, and the others learned to live with them, but the senators of the Galactic Senate thought that they were a threat. It was started with the speech of the Julliet Von Cemalot; she complained about the robots being conscious, then the other senators talked about them, and they decided that they should be enslaved and they shouldn’t have a senator to represent them, they shouldn’t have rights, and they only have to obey rules. After these additional rules, so many of the robots immigrated to the lands that their nation lives, leaving their homes behind to start a new life…

The Destruction of the IOM

In the galaxy there is no one who became rich without the Intergalactic Open Market. The rich people, such as Gunno Juon, had multiplied their wealth with the stock market. But this event proved that relying on the stock market may cause depression, and it also proved that the Colonel Skypiercer said, “There are rulers, and there are the ruled. But history remembers what happens when the ruled stop obeying.” It was a flame that started a fire. It was a fusion reaction that made an atomic bomb explode. It wasn't a very loud day in the Senate at the start; senators never felt bothered by the things that they had done for the Robots. They never mingled with them. They had never thought how destructive their feelings would be, and they also did forget about the followers of the Mofu. They turned them into an oppressed minority with their decisions, and they came together with the other minorities to deal a blow to Senate; they wanted revenge, and they wanted their order back, so they made a plan, a plan to attack the most fundamental thing, the economy.

They knew that most of the senators had stocks and money at IOM in Mukuron. They knew that they had to attack there, but it had to be something metaphorical after all; it will be streamed on the media, so they decided on a plan called "The Wealth Ceremony". They waited for the anniversary of the establishment day of IOM; they heard that the speech of the Director General of IOM will be live-streamed from everywhere in the universe, so they have to make a shot. They sent presents to the east, west, and middle buildings of IOM, and they started waiting for the Director General to start his speech. and he started speaking when he came to the part where he releases the profit figures from the big screen on the long IOM tower. Something unexpected happened; the screen suddenly went black, and then an animation started playing. There was a coin with IOM written on it, and someone took it and put it on a press machine, and the coin started cracking from the middle, and the text changed:

"We are not destroying wealth.

We are destroying the machine that decides who deserves it."

Then the bombs that had been sent to IOM started exploding; there was blood and screams everywhere. After that, the IOM was forced to close the markets for a while, and that proved the truth of what Colonel Skypiercer had said: "There are rulers, and there are the ruled. But history remembers what happens when the ruled stop obeying."

Ascension of Qaidron

After their first successful act, the Insurgent Movement started calling themselves the Qaidron. The father of the name was Ozar Fin-Lex, who is the leader of Qaidron; he chose this name to honour his uncle Qai 9.0 Model 11 drone, who sacrificed himself to save Ozar from the attacks of the soldiers who were deporting them. While Qai was getting out of battery, it told Ozar one thing, one word: "Revenge," so he knew exactly what to do. After that, he will be a Liberian warrior but not like the innocent ones; he wasn’t going to take his revenge like Wuthu. He will get his revenge directly. So he went to Ekhion to find the other victim robots; after a long preparation, they did their first big score, “The Wealth Ceremony", and then they kept continuing the plan they had attacked the economy of. Now they had to do something louder than the last job, but they needed a legend to help them; a legend had only been written in the old books. They had to find the Kendirhen Cult, but once they started to look for them, the leader of the Kendirhen Cult, Kendrih Lonar, felt there was someone looking for them with his Catarant senses and he chose to go to them so they had a long meeting with Ozar, and he decided that they have a righteous cause, and he agreed to help them. After that, they started planning a new act together; they decided to kill someone from the Senate. They had chosen Qub Oi and Hahe Mouha because of the low security, and before starting, they wanted to give them a chance; they gave them a deadline to give the robots and Mofu followers the rights they have to have, but they didn’t take it seriously, so they started their plan: they kidnapped both of the presidents and recorded while murdering them and sent the video to the senate. It was a total chaos; the senators felt fear to their very bones. The comfort they had had fallen down in one day, and they gave them time again to do something about the laws they deserve.

Preperation for Doom

After all this chaos, the senators finally woke up from their dream, and they realised that Qaidron isn’t just a group of angry people; they understood that they are a highly dangerous terror organisation, but once they understood that, they didn’t think about giving back the rights they deserved. They decided to erase them from the universe. They started working together to erase the Qaidron. While they were working, Kendrih Lonar did a couple of public executions to threaten them to move faster. There was total chaos everywhere in the galaxy.

The Breakdown

It was done. The time was up, and they didn’t take their promises into reality, so there would be results; they didn’t give the required importance to them, and now it was time to pay off. It's been a long time since something happened like this; it was used as a punishment to a nation from the whole galaxy. The Qaidron started conflict with the order of Ozar; they gained so much power since “The Wealth Ceremony", and now they had enough power to fight with the whole galaxy, and in reality they were more coordinated than the senate while senators were trying to raise an army. They had an army with more soldiers than the populations of some planets, and they had robots as soldiers; they were all well-trained soldiers with the best equipment, and they were ready for war, so they decided to do another act to declare a war. They kidnapped Rizdie Pomerak, who is the president of Kaloumonia; they murdered him, and they sent a photo of him holding a metal plate with a text on it: “We wanted a peaceful life with you; we will get that life we deserved, but you won’t be there." That was a clear war declaration; it seemed like the Qaidron would be successful. They used all of their forces for this operation; they had 200 bombers, 2500 fighters, and 150 destroyers, and they started their journey to Palad. Something big was about the happen,

Something didn’t happen since Pitohui

Generational Pop Out

The Qaidron was faster than the Senate’s forces; they were already near the Palas while senators were still trying to raise an army. They were going to be successful; they were going to take their revenge, and they will answer the senate as wild as possible, so they did something that didn’t happen since Pitohui; they made a coordinated attack on Palad. The planet wasn’t strong enough to stand against the attacks, so it vanished from existence; there was no sound in space, but silence was so loud, maybe you weren’t able to listen to it, but you should have been able to read it from the broken pieces and body parts of the living creatures floating around. They set an example that lived up to the Marshal Lysandriel’s words, “One drop of blood can begin a war that generations will finish." The explosion was so big that every planet’s orbit shifted 1 cm to the left, but they were not satisfied; after that, they wanted everyone to suffer. Ozar wanted them to feel what he felt after he lost his life and uncle. So they kept continuing, and they turned their direction to Lobivara, but while they were on their way, something unexpected happened: there were so many spaceships that were using for transportation closing their way, so they started firing at them, but once they started firing at them, they started to explode, leaving damaged spaceships behind. Armed forces of the Senate were finally taking action, but it wasn’t enough to stop Qaidron; they might be lost soldiers, but they still had enough power to destroy the worlds, so they kept continuing to Lobivara once they came there. Ozar looked at the photo of his family he left behind and his dead uncle; he remembered how it used to be living a normal life. He wanted that back, but there won’t be a normal life for him and his family if he doesn't succeed, so he just ordered their army to burn the planet down and destroy it after 5 or 6 minutes. There was no planet called Lobivara. He stayed quiet while watching people die. A miracle had to happen, but miracles don't happen that often in real life. The miracle that the people were waiting for never came; the senate left them to death. Qaidron kept going with the other planets; they erased 2 other helpless planets from existence too. But the reason why the Senate forces waited so long finally came to light. They were trying to upgrade “Nor’s Planet Destroyer," and they were finally successful. It was time to use it against Qaidron. They aimed at the Army of Qaidron, and then they started it up; everything happened in a few seconds. The monsters who were destroying planets weren’t there anymore;

The Day of Destiny

Some of the rebels got captured alive, including Ozar Fin Lex. He didn’t resist arrest. They tried so hard to question him, but he didn’t say anything. He just wanted to get executed because he saw every one of his friends right before his eyes; that was the questioning technique of Senate. They made every prisoner watch his friend's death, but no one from Qaidron said anything. No one could judge both sides; it was a war, and wars never had rules. Of course they deleted the files of it from everywhere. They kept executing everyone until no one left, and they executed Ozar at the end. When he was lying on the table, he said those words to senators watching him, “You can execute every last one of us, Senator. But you cannot execute what made us rise." After those words, senators felt the cold in their blood. They did the right thing; they were the good ones; they were “The Miracle”...

Baton of the Seer

Orpheon tapped his baton to the table three times and started talking, “Something is coming." He tapped three times again. "It's my death." He waited for a second and kept talking, “But something bigger than my death is about to happen." He tapped three times again and kept talking, "And it's nearer than my death.” He tapped three times again and kept talking, “I see, lords," and tapped again, “Lords who did cruel things," and tapped again, “I see files." "Files that are flying all over the galaxy," and tapped again, “There will be a new order." “Order to bring the peace back” tapped again. “But there will be something bad." “And it will be just after my death." After those words his eyes closed and he fell to the ground…

Happy Nation

Official files of the Galactic Senate were always used to be stored in physical file rooms until a few years ago. A few years ago the Senate had established a new department called CDI (Cosmos Department of Intelligence), and they asked them to create a digital file storage system. CDI did what was required, so they started using the system called "N.E.X.U.S.," and they stored the files of the investigation of Qaidron there during the investigation, and they deleted files of them just after the case was closed. The investigation was made by only the senators, so there was no one from the CDI, and this also meant that they didn't know how The system worked. They were only able to delete the files from the official archives, but there was also an emergency backup archive, which was backing up the deleted files for security, and when the time came for the system to update, an error occurred on the backup archives, and the files that they thought they deleted transferred to the public archive. No one realised what happened at first, including the employees of CDI, but after 5 months a history teacher doing research found something he had never heard of. There were files and videos showing the things the Senate did to robots and Qaidron, and he shared files on social media with a really old song. Happy Nation by Ace of Base. The post went viral on social media, and everyone started doing the same thing to disseminate the information. Just after the files were released, protests against the senate had broken out. The number of people in the protests was too many; even the senate didn't have enough power to stand against them.

A New Order

After the breakout of protests, the senate wasn't able to stand against the crowd, so they decided to switch to a new order. They had learnt their lesson, so they decided to change the system to be more independent from the planets. They made people choose the senators independent from the local government, and they assigned a mayor to every planet, but even there where mayors, the galaxy will be ruled by the senators. And they also asked people to create 4 factions to represent their ideas, but the members of the factions should consist of senators. After the senators were elected, the monarchy was abolished, and every state was placed under the authority of the senate. And there were 4 factions to represent the public opinion:

Factions

Nobles' Legacy Faction (NLF)

The Nobles' Legacy Faction wants the Acillian Empire back; they think that being ruled by a group of nobles is the best way to keep the peace between all the nations.

Galactic Co-operation Faction (GCF)

The Galactic Co-operation Faction wants the old system to come back; they believe that having the planets ruled with monarchy and a senate composed of kings and queens would be the best solution.

Angels' Wings Faction (AWF)

The Angels' Wings Faction thinks that the new order is the best way to rule the galaxy. They believe that the best approach is to have no state at all and for the senate to be governed entirely by independent senators.

Cosmic Bouquet Faction (CBF)

The Cosmic Bouquet Faction thinks that freedom is the best way to rule the galaxy. They believe that every planet must be an independent republican state, and there shouldn't be a Senate to rule them.

What will happen now?

There will be an election in 20 years, so every faction will try their best to get the most support from the public to get elected…

The Galactic Senate provided this guide through the Ministry of Galactic Education.

Contains references taken from the official high school history textbooks in the Galactic Order and Galactic Archives. With this guide you will be a qualified senator in no time.